

| Testing the Tools |

What's Hot and What's Getting Hotter

BY HOWARD S. GLAZER, DDS, FAGD

MATERIAL

Venus Diamond® Flow

Heraeus Kulzer, LLC
300 Heraeus Way
South Bend, IN 46614
800.431.1785
www.smilebyvenus.com

Heraeus Kulzer recently introduced Venus Diamond®, a line of nano-filled, radiopaque composites. To further enhance its new line, the company created Venus Diamond® Flow, a flowable, nano-hybrid composite that can be used to create aesthetically perfect, durable restorations. The material comes in 11 shades, including Heraeus Kulzer's proprietary HKA2.5 and HKA5. The material is highly radiopaque and combines high flexural strength with low shrinkage. It's easily dispensed in syringes for Class I, II, III, IV, and V cavities and can be used effectively as a base/liner or as a sealer in those areas that are not exposed to tremendous masticatory forces. Thanks to its innovative diamond formula, the new Venus Diamond® Flow produces an excellent match with the shade of the adjacent teeth. The first thing you may notice when using Venus Diamond®

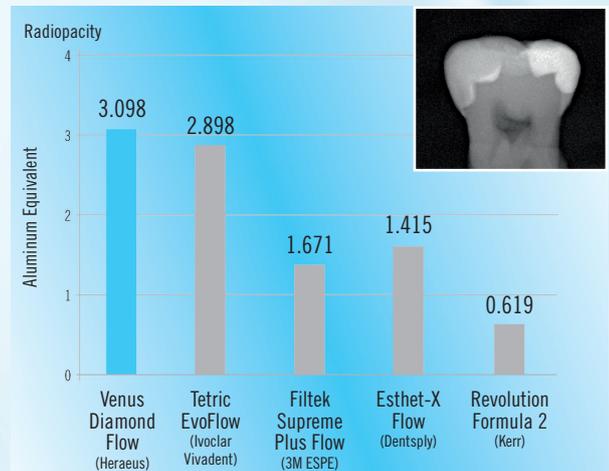

Flow is that it's more thixotropic than most flowable resins. This flowable consistency allows you to place it where you want it and not worry about it "running away" before you can apply the light source (LED, halogen, or plasma arc). Venus Diamond® Flow is a perfect complement to the Venus Diamond® composite system. The Venus® line continues to enable us to create beautiful restorations for our patients.

Venus Diamond® Flow

Seeing is believing.

- High radiopacity
- Low shrinkage stress
- High flexural strength
- Superior shade adaptation

Venus Diamond® Flow ensures an optimal, reliable diagnosis – every time.

Source: Dr. Peter Yaman, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, MI, USA: 'Radiopacity of an Experimental Flowable Composite Compared to Four Currently Available Flowable Composites.' September 2009. Data on file.

View Venus Diamond Flow Videos:

<http://www.youtube.com/user/HeraeusKulzerLLC>

PURCHASE 4
Venus Diamond Flow Refills,
RECEIVE 1 of the same FREE!
Call 1-877-258-5937 and mention
code 1000802921

Venus®
The New Esthetics